MAKING HEADLINES

Clearstep, the flexible and discreet orthodontic straightening system developed by Andrew McCance, was recently featured on the Entrepreneurs' Business Academy blog as part of its new 'Business in the Spotlight' column written by Bev James, managing director at Entrepreneurs Business Academy (EBA).

During the interview, managing director, Alistair McCance, relates how the business has grown and expanded over the last three years, resulting in a staff increase, from 12 to 70 personnel, whilst also unveiling the company's plans to roll out a new digital manufacturing process that will allow Clearstep to develop a scalable business and manufacturing model. ■
